

PHASE ZERO | ZERO COST

From chaos to clarity – conduct a free Phase Zero Initial Assessment for utilities

PHASE ZERO INITIAL ASSESSMENTS

THINKING AT THE SPEED OF TECHNOLOGY

As the world of data management, modern technologies and process automation continue to evolve, utilities face increasing pressure to modernize operations, consolidate legacy systems, upgrade technology systems and improve overall compliance. Without a clear understanding of current state issues like fragmented data and manual processes, digital transformation efforts can become complex, cumbersome and costly if constituents are not aligned on multiple fronts.

LISTEN. LEARN. LEVERAGE.

Prior to investing ample time, resources and funds into a longer-term assessment program, Celerity provides utility clients with a free, online Initial Assessment session tailored to discuss key pain points, inefficiencies and data challenges that impact business processes, technology stacks and operations.

Providing proactive insights before any significant investments may be incurred, this no-cost, 2-hour online session enables Celerity integration experts to listen, collaborate and align client challenges with potential solutions before embarking on a full-scale project.

TANGIBLE BENEFITS

- Zero cost
- Interactive discussion on transformation enablers
- Recommendations on where to focus first
- Benchmark learnings from other utility clients
- Manual workflows and process inefficiencies
- Data silos and legacy system issues
- Future-state processes, data management services
- Technology upgrade / migration insights
- Data governance and integration acumen
- Tech-stack consolidation input

PRE-ASSESSMENT INTAKE FORM – GETTING STARTED

After clients complete a short, pre-assessment intake form, Celerity will schedule a 1-2 hour session with designated business sponsors, IT, field operations and / or asset operations groups accordingly.
